

CHINESE AND WIFE LOSE THEIR LIVES IN CHINATOWN FIRE

Gallant Rescues by Police
When Flames Sweep 100-
Year-Old House.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT.

Kettle of Grease in Restaurant
Boils Over and Fireworks Add to Blaze.

A pot of fat on the stove in Ching Woo's restaurant, in the ancient building at No. 4 Bowery, boiled over to-day and started a fire in which two lives were lost and eight persons hurt.

No. 4 Bowery is more than a century old. Its smoky, stained walls have been considered among the old landmarks of the Bowery as long as the oldest living New Yorker can remember. Ching Woo's restaurant now occupies the ground floor, and Chinese and white women live above. There is a rear entrance through an alley, running alongside No. 24 Doyers street.

A dozen or more Chinese were in the restaurant eating a late supper when the cook put the pot of fat on the stove. The range fire was burning brightly and the pot was soon bubbling. Before the cook could get to it, superheated fat popped over the edge of the kettle and set the greasy floor and wall paper to flaming.

The flames licked their way up the wall to the hundred-year-old rafters, where Ching Woo had stored a quantity of fireworks. These took slightly longer to explode than the others, but they did explode, and the fire was soon out of control. The flames sent the customers scurrying from the restaurant in alarm.

CARRY OUT INJURED COUPLE AND RETURN FOR MORE.

The ancient timbers burned almost like paper and the blaze was bursting through to the second floor by the time the firemen began to arrive. Police Officer Griffin of the Elizabeth street station, who heard the commotion, turned in an alarm at Bowery and Division street. As he ran back to the fire he was joined by Policeman Daly of the Oak street station.

The policemen climbed to a window balcony and from there to the fire-escape landing at the second floor, where the drop ladder was lowered. Entering a window, they found Chu Lan and his wife, Mabel, partly overcome by smoke and slightly burned. Griffin and Daly carried the pair down the drop ladder into Olliffe's drug store at No. 8 Bowery, where Dr. Robinson was summoned from Gouverneur Hospital. He treated the Chinese and his wife and then dressed the burned hands of the policeman.

While this rescue was being made at the front of the building, Police Sergeant Barnes and Andy Blip of No. 7 Sullivan street climbed together to the second floor in the rear, where they found Sadie Gibney, who is said to be known in the neighborhood as "Philadelphia Kitty," and a Mrs. Schwaartz.

These women were also carried to Olliffe's store, Barnes and Blip wrapping blankets around the women and also swathing themselves in blankets. Indian fashion, for the dash through smoke and fire to the window. Sgt. Barnes was unhurt, but both the women and Blip required Dr. Robinson's attention.

Engine Company No. 9 was the first of the fire department to arrive and Lieut. Barnes, its commander, seeing the extent of the fire, sounded a second alarm, which brought a reinforcement of apparatus and both Chief Kenon and Assistant Chief Turpin.

OR "THERE ARE MORE PEOPLE INSIDE."

The men of Engine Company No. 9 were getting into action in the rear of the building, where the fire was worst, when the cry went up, "There are more people inside."

Engine Company No. 7 was just arriving and Lieut. Ross of that organization, accompanied by two of his men—Bernett and O'Connell—dashed into the building. Firemen of No. 8, with their hose aimed through windows, played on the men of No. 7 as they struggled upstairs.

On the third floor they found Steven Lee, a Chinese; his white wife, Ivy Lee, and Fanny Miller. The flames were sweeping about the beds on which the three lay unconscious.

Each of the firemen picked up one of the limp forms and began the descent of the stairs, the firemen of No. 9 still spraying them with their hose as they went down the steps. When the rescuers staggered into Olliffe's with their burdens Dr. Robinson and Dr. Archer of the Fire Department immediately went to work on the Lees, who were the most seriously burned.

Ivy Lee did not regain consciousness, but died on the drug store floor ten minutes after she was laid there by the fireman who bore her from the burning building. Her husband was given temporary treatment and then rushed to Gouverneur Hospital, where the doctor says she will recover, although she is painfully burned.

The firemen extinguished the burning building a few minutes after the Lees were carried out. Only a rough estimate could be made of the monetary loss, which was said to be not less than $10,000 and possibly as much as $10,000.

Most Pictured Gaiety Beauty Who Wins First Move for Divorce

LONDON, July 29.—Justice Bucknill in the Divorce Court has ordered Eric Loder, the wealthy young London clubman, to take back to his heart the famous Gaiety beauty, Gabrielle Ray, whom he made his wife in March last year, loving her so much that he married her the day after she had jilted him at the altar, leaving him with all his friends waiting in the church.

But he won't go back to her now, the pretty actress thinks, and the order for restitution of conjugal rights, which she obtained after stirring the hearts of the junior bar to inexpressible depths by weeping in court, is only the first step toward divorce. Loder's refusal to comply with the order will constitute cruelty.

DEPOSED POLICEMAN,
NOW A LAW STUDENT,
HELD FOR $250 THEFT

Otto W. Fredericks Accused of Collecting Money and Failing to Account for It.

Otto W. Fredericks, who was dismissed from the police force two years ago for going to bed in a cot in St. John's Hospital when supposed to be on patrol, was held to-day by Magistrate Leach in Long Island City Court on a charge of robbing Otto Daubman of No. 1335 Chisholm street of $250. Fredericks has been studying law since he left the department.

Daubman, who is a shipping clerk at No. 480 Broadway, Manhattan, said Fredericks appeared at the store last February saying he represented Richard N. Adams, a Long Island City lawyer, who was about to begin foreclosure proceedings against property owned by Daubman's mother. Daubman gave him $250 to pay up back interest and stop the foreclosure, he said.

The Roslyn Savings bank, according to Daubman, has since informed him that no foreclosure proceedings were contemplated, that only a small amount of interest is due, and that no payment had been made on his account. Lawyer Adams is out of town and pending the taking of his testimony Fredericks was held in $1,000 bail, which he was unable to furnish. He was locked up.

Fredericks had a stormy time in the Police Department. He had a station house quarrel with Owen Rudden, another policeman. Rudden was accused of firing several shots at him; but was indicted and acquitted. Then came the raid on St. John's Hospital, where Fredericks was found and removed to the station in his underclothes.

MITCHEL TELLS FUSIONISTS THEY SHOULD NAME HIM

Goes Before Candidates' Committee and Explains His Political Views.

SHARPS PICK M'ANENY.

Declare He Will Be Favored
for Mayoralty Over Mitchell and Whitman.

John Purroy Mitchell, Collector of the Port, appeared before the Candidates Committee of the Fusion Committee of 107 this afternoon, and furnished the members with his ideas of the sort of a man who should be selected for the Mayoralty.

Mr. Mitchell had already suggested that all the "active" Mayoralty candidates in the field be submitted to a sort of cross examination, or questioning as to policy, pledges and promises—all of the latter to be made good, of course. Mr. Mitchell added that he was willing to enter the contest and even went further. He declared he would accept no nomination from Tammany Hall, and he was foremost in making that declaration.

He said he was willing to tell what he had learned about the Mayoralty job during the eight or ten years he has been in public office. Once during the absence of Mayor Gaynor Mr. Mitchell was acting Mayor and he created a hubbub by revealing police conditions down at Coney Island. That was an experience also, the import of which he desired to convey to the committee.

After its deliberations and concluding all of its estimates of Borough President McAneny, Collector Mitchell and District Attorney Whitman, the Candidates Committee announced that it was prepared to report its choice to the Executive Committee. This committee will also consider the suggested candidates and report to the committee of the whole—the formidable Committee of One Hundred and Seven.

POLITICAL SHARPS SAY IT LOOKS LIKE M'ANENY.

Political sharps who have their ears to the ground volunteered the report that the Candidates Committee favors Borough President McAneny for the Mayoralty and that the committee have set aside the name of Collector Mitchell. Whitman has joined Mitchell in the discard, it was stated by the prophets, but they added that Whitman would receive the straight out and out Republican nomination and go it alone.

The rest of the Fusion ticket, it is said, is to include Prendergast for Comptroller on the Fusion, Progressive and Republican tickets; John Hopper of the Independence League for Borough President on the Fusion ticket and Alderman H. H. Curran, the police investigator, on the Fusion and Republican tickets for President of the Board of Aldermen. Over in the Tammany camp the re-nomination or designation of Gaynor for the Mayoralty was indicated as a "done deal."

Officially the fusion ticket framers will make final announcement to-morrow night of the result of the labor of the bod, in picking the best men for the several places on the fusion ticket.

Head of Hat Company Fined $500.
Charles A. Bohn, head of the Bohn Hat Company, to-day, when arraigned before Judge Ray in the Criminal Branch of the Federal Court, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging the undervaluation of two consignments of hats from Peru, one of which came by the liner "Colon" on Feb. 4, 1910, and the liner "Alliance" on Aug. 13, 1909. For one of the undervaluations Judge Ray imposed a fine of $500, which was paid, and on the other undervaluation court sentence was suspended. In settlement of the duty the Bohn Hat Company has paid the Government $5,000.

Supreme Court Justice Donnelly to-day granted Mrs. Caroline W. Griffin $500 a month alimony pending the trial of her suit for a separation from Dr. Edwin Harrison Griffin of No. 35 West Forty-seventh street. The Justice also allowed her counsel, Lynn W. Thompson, a counsel fee of $1,000.

In her application for alimony and counsel fees Mrs. Griffin declared that her husband owned property valued at $400,000 and that his income from his practice was over $40,000 a year, and she asked the court to grant her alimony at the rate of $2,000 a year and a counsel fee of $2,500. The custody of a minor son is awarded to Mrs. Griffin, but the doctor is to see him at suitable hours during the day.

BROKER SAYS SON KILLED SELF WHEN 'FAMILY DEPARTED

C. Guy Beardsley, Son of New Yorker, Took Poison in Cleveland Hotel.

F. S. Beardsley, a veteran sugar broker of Wall street, to-day partly cleared up the mystery of his son's suicide in a Cleveland hotel last Thursday.

"So far," Mr. Beardsley told an Evening World reporter, "I have tried to keep this terrible affair out of the papers, but so many wicked falsehoods have been told that it is time for the facts to be known."

"My son was not, and never had been, in any real financial difficulty. Like most young men he spent considerably more than he earned, but I always made up the deficiency. I have kept stubs right here to prove it. This makes the statement that there had ever been an estrangement between me and my son absurd. Father and son have never been on better terms than we were."

"My son's marriage was the one unfortunate experience of his life. Up to that time he had been a little wild and extravagant at times, but he had never got into any real difficulties. The statement that he tried to elope with a beautiful French girl a short time before he was married is a lie. I have kept pretty good track of my son's actions, and I am sure."

"His married life had not been happy, and as a climax to a number of disagreements his wife without warning took the two children two weeks ago and went back to her home in Menominee, Mich. I can see how this would have affected my son, as he was always passionately devoted to the children. I understand that he owed the hotel $23 and had but 29 cents in his pocket, but that was not at all a novel position for him to be in. It was his domestic troubles that worried him. I know, for a fact, that he was on the point of being offered a position with a salary of ten thousand a year."

Young Beardsley was thirty years old and a Yale graduate. Since leaving college he had been connected with several large sugar concerns as an expert chemist. Most of his time had been spent in Cuba, where he was known as the best sugar expert that ever went to Cuba. At Menominee Mrs. C. Guy Beardsley, who first heard of her husband's suicide from a newspaper reporter, refused to admit that domestic troubles could have had anything to do with the death of her husband. They were married two years ago. His wife was Miss Clara Gonyou.

Last Thursday Beardsley took some poisonous crystals in his room on the fourth floor of the Hotel Statler and died almost instantly. The body was shipped to New York and the funeral was held last Sunday.

WILSON ATTACKED FOR HIS ACTION IN CAMINETTI CASE

Kahn in House Speech Talks of "Whitewash" and "Insidious Political Pull."

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Republican filibuster, after paralyzing business in the House more than a week, accomplished its purpose to-day when the Democrats decided to allow five hours' discussion of the Diggs-Caminetti-McNab-McReynolds imbroglio.

Wary of obstructive tactics, the Democrats brought in a resolution by Representative Kahn of California, calling for a telegram from the Attorney-General May 16, directing McNab to take no affirmative action in the Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases until after receiving further advice from the Attorney-General.

The committee report set forth that the Attorney-General had supplied a telegram which read as follows: "McNab, United States District Attorney, San Francisco, Cal.: Please write me fully concerning charges against Caminetti and Diggs and take no affirmative action in respect of same until you receive advice from me. Answer."

(Signed) "MCREYNOLDS, Attorney-General."

Accompanying the telegram was a memorandum showing it was sent by the Attorney-General personally on the evening of May 16. Presenting the papers, the Judiciary Committee recommended that the Kahn resolution be tabled, since its purpose had been accomplished. On that report, Chairman Clayton arranged for five hours' debate to allow Representatives Kahn and others to discuss all circumstances of the Caminetti case.

Representative Kahn pointed out that the telegram holding up the trials was sent more than a month before Secretary Wilson asked the Attorney-General for delay.

"Why was this telegram sent from his hotel?" he demanded. "Did someone call upon the Attorney-General at his hotel and try to exert insidious political pull in having the cases postponed?"

"It was evidently necessary to white-wash the action of the Attorney-General," said Kahn, discussing President Wilson's action in the case. "Why the President saw fit to scold and censure McNab and at the same time adopted his policy of proceeding promptly with the cases passed all comprehension."

If McNab did right in insisting on the early trial of these cases—and both the President and the Attorney-General now adopt his views and insist that the cases must be tried promptly and at an early date, why should McNab have been censured? If insidious political pull was being successfully used to cause the Attorney-General to order a postponement of the cases, why should the censure not have fallen upon the shoulders of the Attorney-General?"

"Instead of having been blamed and condemned, McNab should have been commended by the President of the United States. If the President had called on him to withdraw his resignation and proceed with the trial of these cases he would have made himself infinitely stronger with his countrymen."

Representative McKellar of Tennessee, one of the Democrats who steadfastly opposed discussion of the case, characterized Representative Kahn's speech as a "political harangue," and declared that "every member is disappointed by the failure of the gentleman from California to produce that exposure which we all expected." The House was wasting time spending five hours discussing so "inconsequential a matter of petty politics," he declared.
